

We have about 40 Winter Suits which we have carried over from last year on account of the labor troubles. Every one of these Suits is first-class in every particular and very desirable—but in order to clean them out we have cut the prices to such an extent that every one will be a real bargain to the man who buys one.

In some cases the prices are almost half what they were originally.

Suits that were $10.00, 15.00 and 18.00, now $5.00, 7.50 and 12.50.

Overcoats that were $12.00, 15.00 and 20.00, now $5.00, 10.50 and 15.00.

Boys' Suits and Overcoats $1.00 to 7.50 that were $1.50 to 12.00.

CITY LOSES AN OFFICIAL

owner, and the dogs were frightened away.

Miscellaneous Doings.

Building permits were granted to A. S. Martin to build a woodshed on Tremont street; to Fred Beckley to build a piazza at Beckley court and to Rizal Bros. to erect a chimney on Blackwell street. On motion of Alderman Willey, it was voted to appropriate the usual sum of $25 to the Currier Park Improvement society to assist in the care of the park. The clerk stated that the Barre railroad notified him that they wished to put in the abutments under their railroad bridge across the new river channel, as quicksand had been found in the soil there and they wanted to be sure that the abutments were put in right. The matter was referred to the street committee and the engineer.

A communication was received from the Central Vermont railroad, stating that they were now ready to exchange the deeds which the city has long been looking for, and on motion of Alderman Willey the city attorney was instructed to pass the deeds at the earliest possible moment and, if it was necessary, to go to St. Albans and get the deed. The clerk brought up the question as to whether the city wished to have the water bonds which the city is soon to float certified to by some bonding corporation, and if so it would facilitate matters to be making what arrangements they could right away. On motion of Alderman Rossi, it was voted to have them certified. Alderman Thurston stated that L. M. Averill had reported to him that some tile which he had purchased several years ago to be put into the ditch at the upper side of Tremont street had been moved by the city, and he wanted them put back where they were originally laid. The street committee was instructed to investigate with power to act.

Spare the hatchet and spoil the Thanksgiving dinner.

It takes a brave man to be British premier. Asquith if it isn't.

No matter if the turkey does roost high in Massachusetts, for there's venison for a substitute to-morrow.

The Taft administration is doing a little house-cleaning in connection with the post office department, and doing it without blare of trumpets.

In view of recent events, porcupine pie might be a favorite dish in Vermont to-morrow, for that would be killing two birds with one stone, providing a table delicacy and securing a handsome bounty.

The unconditional gift of $25,000 to the university of Vermont from one of its graduates is a pleasant proof of loyalty and indicates that not all the donations are going to the money-fat institutions. The university of Vermont can put the money to splendid use; and still it hasn't enough to meet the requirements, let alone the frills of an educational institution.

FOSS LOST A CHANCE AT REFORM.

Governor-elect Foss of Massachusetts is anxious to make reforms in his state, but he overlooked one chance right at the start, when he failed to resign as congressman from the fourteenth district before the state election. Mr. Foss evidently had the idea that he could resign as congressman if elected to the governorship, and that as governor he could appoint his successor in Congress; but the Massachusetts law does not give him that right of appointment. Hence, his tenacity in holding to one political job before being assured of another will cost the state of Massachusetts a special election in the fourteenth district, when he shall have resigned as congressman within a few weeks. It is a tender point with the governor-elect.

HAS GIVEN DILIGENT SERVICE.

That City Attorney J. Ward Carver has been diligent in the legal department of Barre's municipal work is shown by the fact that of all the various matters which have come up during his five years' service for the city only one remains to be turned over to his successor, and that remains by necessity, since it was brought against the city only recently and there has been no chance for disposing of it in the usual course before the courts. It is to be expected that Mr. Carver will bring the same diligence to his new work as state attorney for Washington county, to which office he was elected last September, and that he will thereby justify the confidence of the voters of the county.

WILLIAMSTOWN.

Ralph Martin has been making a little visit with his grandparents in Brookfield.

L. M. Seaver took advantage of his senatorial recess to slip away to New York on business, but expects to be back for Thanksgiving.

Walter M. Williams of Royalton was a business visitor in town on Monday, as was also salesman Townsend of the Burlington Drug company.

Miss Florence Bannister, who went to Burlington hospital the 5th for an operation, returned on the early afternoon train yesterday, having seemingly met with good success.

The entertainment by Edward H. Frye last evening, the second in the course, was well attended. Mr. Frye had his difficulties in reaching Williamstown, in a long distance to cover, and a breakdown on the train into the bargain, but though a little late, made good. There were impersonations of David Harum and Rip Van Winkle, with other humorous selections, and all thoroughly enjoyed.

The Secret of Sing Sing Prison's Death House Revealed

Presented for the first time to the American public in the form of a highly interesting and instructive exhibition.

A perfect reproduction of the Death Chamber at Sing Sing Prison and the Death Chair. The grim instrument by which the state of New York inflicts the Death Penalty on the convicted Murderer.

To make the exhibition thoroughly realistic, Prof. Campbell, assisted by but without any of the horrors of the death chamber, as the subject does not get killed. Mlle. Electricia is seated in the death chair and all the details of its workings are shown and explained, how the body, feet, arms and hands are fastened and how the electric connections are made. Mlle. Electricia is then fastened in the death chair and receives the same shock by electricity that is given to those electrocuted at Sing Sing, yet she sits there and smiles at her auditors. To prove that the vast electric force is flowing through her person, electric sparks over an inch long come from any one of her fingers, from the flesh of the back of her hand, her cheeks, her clothing, and through the leather of her shoes. To prove how destructive the current in her system is, she lights gas with the sparks that come from the tips of her fingers. This strange, weird, amazing and novel performance will delight old and young alike.

A Real Electrocution
